PROGRAMS: Sandy Waldrup is planning a program with a "health" topic for January.

SOCIAL: Susan Hanline reminded us of our Christmas Potluck at the Senior Center on December 5. RSVP's will be required along with the dish you are bringing to share. A $20 gift exchange will be optional.

MAGGIE'S MEALS: Pam Brame reported we are packing for 154 students.

SCHOLARSHIP: Nancy Mills held a drawing for the three open positions on the committee. Nancy Rohr, Marcia Blackwell and Patrice Johnson were picked out of twelve applicants. Each will hold a term of three years. Nancy thanked the members who have completed their terms.

PUBLICITY: Marilyn Cole read a thank you from our guest speaker in October, Jeannie Blaylock. She was delighted with our participation in decorating bras for the Buddy Bus and plans to acknowledge us at a later date on First Coast News.

NEW BUSINESS: Cheryle Newman asked for a volunteer to set up a database in Excel of the boutique survey responses. New member Tammy Skipper volunteered.

Jola Greiner won the raffle of a beautiful fall quilt, handmade by member Sue Dake.

The meeting was adjourned at 3:55pm with a motion by Pam Brame and seconded.

Social Chairman Kim Belcher and her committee set up bracelet making tables for members. Anna Weidner helped to clamp the closures for each bracelet. Anna had a beautiful display of jewelry for sale. The event was well attended and members had fun assembling their own bracelets.

Respectfully submitted,
